

Blumini

Blumini is an open-curd cauliflower with softer texture and longer stems. It is much more flavorful than regular cauliflowers. Fresh or cooked, Blumini stands out for its taste and sweetness, with just the right firmness, making it ideal for snack or party tray.

The Blumini plants yield high quality white curds and green stems. It is commercially available in two varieties with a period of 65-80 days of maturity.

	CF 2274	CF 2279
Variety	Medium late	Medium
Maturity After transplant	80 days	65 days
Curd forming	13-23 C	13-23 C
Curd weight	1,8 kg	1,8 kg
Plant type	Creamy white curds, Upright leaves	Extra-long green stems
Tolerance	Disease & bolting	Disease & bolting

